NEW EPOCH IN WORLD'S HISTORY BEGINS

"REVOLUTION" IS EMBLAZONED AT ST. PETERSBURG MONDAY

Troops Again Fired on Crowds This, Monday, Evening Killing and Injuring Many Workmen.

Railway Track Torn Up So As to Isolate the Czar.

AN APPEAL IS MADE TO FOREIGNERS

Municipal Building Destroyed Monday by Rioters---Many Shot Down in the City---Workmen Led by a Priest ---Grave Situation Now Confronted by the Russian Government.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 23—(Bulletin)—The troops again fired on the crowds in Nevsky's prospect this evening. The crowds became so thick the troops were unable to disperse them. Several thousand strikers of Basil Island attempted to cross the Nichalas and Palace Bridges this afternoon, but were driven back by the cavalry. Workmen have torn up part of the Tsarkoeselo railway for the purpose of isolating the Czar.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 23.—The situation this afternoon is comparatively quiet. It is believed that the trouble is not by any means over. however. The strikers are inactive because they have not at present the implements with which to wage a successful warfare against the government and the hated bureaucratic policy. There are no arms to any extent, in possession of the strikers. Should any great quantity of dynamite or other explosives fall into their hands, the devastation and destruction would be widespread and appaling. The troops have the situation, for the moment, well in hand. How long this will last no one can tell.

VIENNA, Jan. 23.—The Neue Freie Presse published a special from St. Petersburg, which states that martial law has been declared in the Russian capital and the authorities are able to inflict the death penalty.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—(Bulletin)—It is reported that a revolution has broken out in Poland.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 23.—The executive committee of the revolutionary league has appealed to the American, British, French and Italian embassies, asking them to bring foreign influence to bear on the Russian government in favor of conciliating the masses.

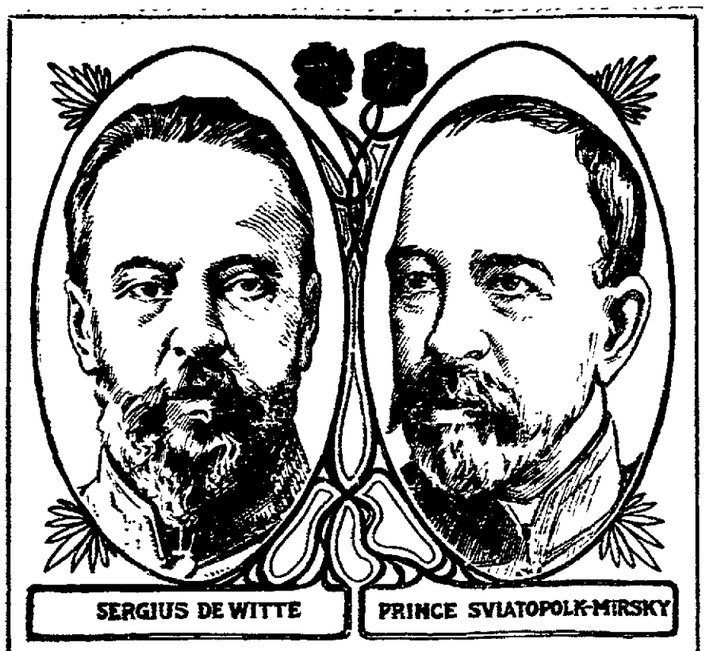

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan 23.—Bulletin)—The Admiralty works at Sevastopol are ablaze and burning furiously.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 23.—2 p. m.—A crowd which is moving toward the winter palace is assuming threatening dimensions. The men have a most obstinate demeanor.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 23.—A municipal building in the second district was today demolished by rioters.

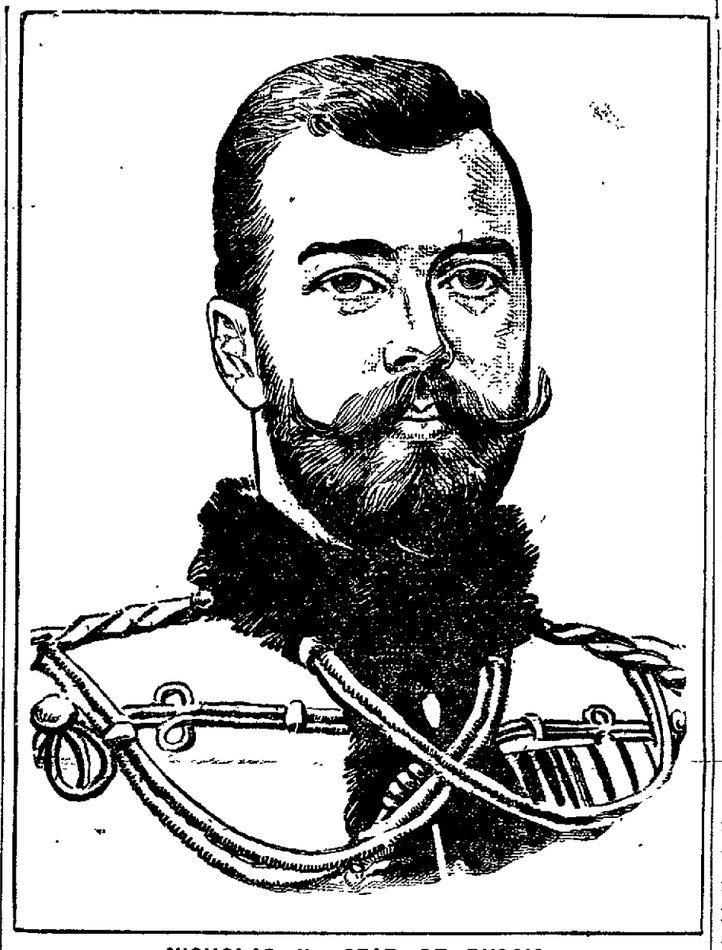

Affairs are again taking on an ominous aspect. At a meeting of strikers at the Putiloff iron works, this morning a resolution was passed expressing it as the intention of the strikers to continue the struggle to the last drop of blood. Reports received this afternoon say several outbreaks have occurred in the Basil Island district.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 23.—Details of the attack on the workmen yesterday which are gradually coming to light show most conclusively that practically in every instance the firing was uncalled for and without the slightest cause. At one point where a large force of workmen gathered the troops attacked the strikers while the latter were singing hymns. The minister of the inerior has ordered all workmen's clubs forcibly closed.

RIVALS FOR CONTROL IN RUSSIA.

Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky, whose scheme of reform in Russia has won him the undying enmity of the bureaucracy, has fallen out of favor with the czar and his successor is to be Sergius De Witte, whose views hitherto have been similar to those of Mirsky. The fact that De Witte is to be restored to power has led to the assumption that he has abandoned many features of his reform scheme.

NICHOLAS II., CZAR OF RUSSIA.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23—A new epoch in the world's history has begun. Another page of Russian history has been opened and the characters which tell the story of a horror equalling, if not surpassing the memorable massacre of St. Bartholomew are written in carmine.

Over St. Petersburg this morning is emblazoned the word "Revolution." Hundreds and perhaps thousands have fallen before the bullet and sword of the government's troops, while the snow is crimsoned with the rich blood of the working classes, the very life-blood of the empire itself.

Words are but weak symbols in conveying an idea of the awful situation which today confront the Russian autocracy, or in describing the heart sickening events which have brought this situationeto the fore. Had it been enemies of the empire who had paid the forfeit or had it been in the course of a rabid anarchistic propaganda that these innocent victims of official murder had laid down their lives, the details would have been sufficient to send a thrill of horror around the entire world, but when it is considered that those who today he cold in death or writhing in unspeakable anguish in the hospitals and countless homes of the city had gone to meet their emperor with no violence in their hearts and with nothing but a desire to better conditions, actuating them, how could such weak things as words give an idea of the occurrence.

Yesterday was a day of horror piled on horror, but the night which ensued was made even more hideous by its succession of horrible events. Yesterday was a day of massacre, but last night was a night of revolution. The laborers' demands which actuated those who led the workers to what they thought would prove freedom, but in reality proved death have been hurled into the oblivion of forgetfulness, while in their place are found the more potent demand for political freedom here and combined with anarchy and a demand for the blood of those who ordered the taking of the lives of the strikers' fellows. The banks of the Neva today rang with the shibboleth of "Down with the autocracy. Long live the republic."

If the story of yesterday's massacre in St. Petersburg itself was unbelievable the tale of last night's conflict and doings in the Basil Island district resemble nothing so much as a page from the Arabian Nights, or an exaggerated account of the days of the commune in France, when line after line of human being fell to rise no more. When the fury of the soldiery of the city had been spent and the strikers had fled to their homes, cursing the hated troops and the men who held them in their grasp, the desire for vengeance was predominant in the breasts of the strikers. Where should it begin and how were the questions to be answered.

As though with one accord the strikers began to gather in the streets of Basil Island. Knowing the hopelessness of opposing the troops as demonstrated in the city during the afternoon without some means of defense, the strikers began erecting barricades.

News of this new development was not long in reaching the authorities, who quickly realized that to prevent the strikers obtaining a permanent base from which they could most readily descend in armed and massed forces on St. Petersburg and the palace, it was necessary to take most strenuous measures. This morning a mixed band of troops were accordingly rushed to the scene with orders to disperse the workmen, no matter by what means or at what cost.

The troops crossed the Neva at double quick pace and charged upon the barricades. They were met with a volley of bricks and other missles, and for a moment were held back. But stones and ice picks were of no avail against the leaden messengers of death and in the twinkling of an eye, the first barricade went.

Then hell was loose in the ranks of the workers. Here an old man, and there a woman with a crying baby in her arms went down before the rain of shot.

In the midst of a street an aged priest, urged to visit the spot by his love for his flock, who were in danger of death, knelt and offered a prayer for the salvation of his loved ones. With hands raised to heaven, and with words of love ascending he was struck, tottered and fell dead.

Small boys had rushed to the scene drawn by the excitement. In the list of those who fell may be found a hundred of these lads, who though not participators in the awful drama yet paid the penalty of their elder's frenzy. When the last barricade had fallen and the last living unwounded man and woman had fled from the scene, the street was strewn with the bodies of workmen. A heap of dead or dying at every barricade marked the restless progress of the czar's troops. The slaughter is said by several who witnessed it to have exceeded anything in the French revolution. It is estimated by some that fully 2,000 were either killed or wounded.

Later developments showed the police's estimates to be about 300 killed and 1,000 or more wounded. From official sources it is estimated from 500 to 1,000 fell yesterday, while other officials who had opportunity to know the facts makes the statement that from one thousand of the [illegible] were killed or wounded. From early morning to patrol the streets and about the winter palace. The soldiers at noon received orders to act in a defensive manner and not attack unless the rioting is renewed. Reports of a few small conflicts are coming in from suburbs, but no casualties are reported. The authorities are not permitting any news of yesterday's massacre to be telegraphed from the capital to internal points in Russia.

Workingmen numbering many thousands have struck, demanding justice from their "masters" and appealing to the Czar for a reform in the national government. What they demand is that which the zemstvos asked for and which they were denied in a recent proclamation—a national representative assembly.

The war with the bureaucrats forced upon the Czar to gratify their dreams of empire may yet prove their undoing and the release of the people from autocratic rule.

"FREE RUSSIA"

Editor Predicts Revolution Just Started Means a Long Civil War in Russia.

London, Ja 22—M. Soskje, editor of Free Russia, a revolutionary journal, today says on the Russian strike that the entire guilt for the disaster rests with the government and that had the government met the present project in the right spirit, it might have inaugurated a peaceful era for the country. The present revolution means the beginning of a long civil war.

STRINGENT MEANS

Taken by Russia to Check Populace. Schools Closed—Water Supply Cut Off.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23—The government decided on the most stringent measures to check the populace today. All the schools are closed and in many places the water supply is cut off.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23—The report that Grand Duke Sergius, the Czar's uncle, has been assassinated is untrue. The workmen attacked his residence, and the troops dispersed them. The Grand Duke is at Tsarkoeselo with the Czar.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23—The Dowager Empress left for Tsarkoeselo this morning.

Newspaper editors at a meeting resolved not to obey the censorship on riot news. The looting of shops in old St. Petersburg is sternly repressed but thousands of explosives have been stolen by thestrikers from the Putil off powder works. An official statement of the casualties up to 8 o'clock last night estimates the dead at 76, and the wounded at 235. The figures are everywhere ridiculed today.

The lowest estimate outside of official circles places the dead at 200. The official figures issued do not include the casualties at Basil Island last night, when a large number, variously estimated up to 2,000, were killed or wounded.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23—An official statement of the massacre Sunday recites no strike movement and says under Father Gopon's leadership the strikers' ranks were rapidly increasing and agitation was soon participated in by the revolutionists, compelling the government to intervene.

St. Petersburg, Jan 23—The czar's [illegible] today issued a statement blaming the workingmen for yesterday's bloodshed. The demands of the workmen are described as audacious and impossible of fulfillment. Most of the

Financial System of San Domingo Will Rest

U. S. TO HANDLE REVENUES

A Statement is Issued Saying it is Not Purposed to Assume a Protectorate.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The situation in Santo Domingo is the subject of a statement issued by Assistant Secretary of State Loomis, who says: The Dominican republic, after mature consideration of existing conditions, has formally and freely invited the government of the United States to assist in the administration of its customs revenues to aid it in putting its fiscal [illegible] on a firm and business-like bas The government of the United States has been explicitly, repeatedly and emphatically informed by more than one of the great powers that it ought either to try to evolve some order out of the financial chaos in the Dominican republic, or assent to certain European creditors of that republic doing this Therefore, representatives of this government and of Santo Domingo have signed a memorandum of a proposed agreement looking to the American control of fiscal affairs upon the request and with the consent of the Dominican government.

The United States proposes to guarantee the territorial integrity of the Dominican republic. It is not the purpose of this government to assume a protectorate over Santo Domingo or to interfere with, or participate in its domestic affairs any further than the collection of its customs revenues, the necessary revision of the tariff laws and the adjustment through properly constituted tribunals or commissions of its foreign claims, and its economic and fiscal organization on a sound basis, may make it essential to do

The unfortunate financial condition of Santo Domingo more than once in the last decade has brought to the United States government questions fraught with imminent peril. The government of the United States could not, with due self-respect, allow the impression to deepen and gain currency that the Monroe doctrine can be used as a shield by American republics to deny justice to other governments.

RICH LACES

And Rare Ivories Found in Chadwick Home.

CUSTOMS COLLECTOR'S VISIT

Accused Woman If Released May Not be Allowed to Occupy Her Fine Home.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 23. — United States Customs Collector Leach has found valuable ivories and laces belonging to Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick in the Chadwick home on Euclid avenue. Mr. Leach is going to learn whether duty has been paid on the articles, all of which have been imported. The goods were taken to the office of Receiver Loeser and examined by an expert. They are said to be worth at least $10,000, most of that sum being spent on a number of fine and expensive articles of lace, such as curtains, collarettes, handkerchiefs, etc. Some of the handkerchiefs are valued at $100 each. If it is shown that the duty has not been paid on the goods they will be sold to recover duty and the proceeds will become a part of the fund which Mr. Loeser is accumulating for the benefit of the Chadwick creditors.

Another interesting phase of the Chadwick developments is that Receiver Nathan Loeser will not permit Mrs. Chadwick to go to her Euclid avenue home until her right to do so has been passed on by Federal Judge Wing. This question will not come up, however, until Mrs. Chadwick is released on bail Should she be allowed to go home she will not be permitted to have possession of any of her house furnishings which are in charge of either the federal authorities or the receiver of the Chadwick assets.

COLUMBUS CASHIER COMMITS SUICIDE BY SHOT IN HEAD

Columbus, O., Jan. 23.—Charles H. Houseman, aged 55, cashier of the East Side Savings bank, committed suicide this morning. He shot himself in the right temple.

Upon application of the directors, the bank was placed in the hands of W. H. English, as receiver.

Rioting in Paris.

Paris, Jan. 23.—Riots occurred in the Latin quarter this morning. The Socialist students started a demonstration in sympathy with the St. Petersburg strikers. Nobody was badly hurt.

GOPON THE YOUNG PRIEST

Who is Leading the Workingmen of Russia is Fiery and Able, Sincere and Without An Idea of Fear.

St. Petersburg, Jan 23.—The most interesting figure in Russia today is George Gopon, the young priest. He is said to be under 30, and is the leader in this movement of the Russian [illegible] which already has cost many lives and which may, before it is suppressed, change the whole system of that country's government, and mark as important an epoch in the world's history as did the French revolution to which the present movement in Russia bears so many startling resemblances.

Father Gopon is primarily an orator [illegible] some say a fanatic, as was [illegible] Martin Luther and other men who by their sincerity and fanaticism have made much of the world's history.

He is absolutely sincere and without the idea of fear. Whether he is a man for the hour who is to lead Russia to the promised land of political rights and industrial freedom the next few days will probably tell. In person he is imposing. He is a big man physically and is handsome. If oratory consists in moulding his hearer to his views, he is entitled to take high rank as an orator.

Gopon was born in Poltava, a peasant, and his boyhood was passed as is that of other boys of the peasant class in Russia. He early showed the possession of moral mentality and attracted the notice of some of the better off people in the vicinity of his home. They decided he was worth an education.

His [illegible] ideas grew with his growth and some time after he had graduated a priest he wrote a book entitled "Christian Socialism," which [illegible] was suppressed by the censor, which brought him into [illegible] with the authorities. [illegible] no money for his work, [illegible] of time or comfort is to [illegible] him to seek. He is an [illegible] of Tolstoi.

RAILWAY BUDGET

B. & O. Engine Exploded Killing Two Men—Railway Rate Question. Personals.

Philadelphia, Jan. 23—(Bulletin)—The threatened Pennsylvania railroad strike has been amicably settled by Grand Master Morrissey and General Manager Atterbury. Both made concessions.

Mountain Lake Park, Md., Jan. 23.—An engine attached to a Baltimore and Ohio freight train exploded near this place. Several cars were derailed and Brakeman F. Johnson and Fireman J. L. Simpson were killed. Engineer A. A. Stranaghan was seriously injured. All of the men belonged in Cumberland, Md. The three tracks were blocked several hours.

Railway Rate Question.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Unless legislation for government rate-making for railroads shall be injected into the house next week, the legislative workdays will be devoted to the annual appropriation bills. No program on the rate question has been agreed on. However, the introduction of the Hepburn bill on this subject Saturday and the long consideration that has been given the matter in committee indicate that the house soon will be asked to give consideration to the proposition. The District of Columbia appropriation bill has the right of way, and following this the pension appropriation bill and the postoffice supply measure are next in line. These measures doubtless will consume the week, with some minor measures that may be given a little time.

TAINTED BLOOD

Columbus, Ohio, May 19, 1903.

Some four years ago I was suffering from impure blood and a general rundown condition of the system. I had no appetite, was losing flesh, and had an all-gone tired feeling that made me miserable. I began the use of S. S. S., and after taking seven or eight bottles my skin was cleared of all eruptions and took on a ruddy, healthy glow that assured me that my blood had been restored to its normal, healthy condition. My appetite was restored, as I could eat anything put before me, and as I regained my appetite I increased in weight, and that "tired feeling" which worried me so much disappeared, and I was once again my old self. I heartily recommend S. S. S. as the best blood purifier and tonic made, and strongly advise its use to all those in need of such medicine. VICTOR STUBBINS.

My system was run down and my joints ached and pained me considerably. I had used S. S. S. before and knew what it was, so I purchased a bottle of it and have taken several bottles and the aches and pains are gone, my blood has been cleansed and my general health is fine. I can testify to it as a blood purifier and tonic.

W. C. T. U. MEETING

Will Consider an Important Matter on Tuesday Afternoon—The Rescue Home May Go.

All members of the W. C. T. U. are requested to be present Tuesday afternoon at the regular meeting of the union as business of great importance is to come before them. The meeting will open promptly at 2 o'clock in order to adjourn for Mrs. Conklin's lecture at the Baptist church.

Mrs. Sisson of this city, state superintendent of the W. C. T. U. rescue work in Ohio, has submitted a proposition to the Zanesville W. C. T. U. which may mean the removal of the rescue home from Newark. A committee was appointed to meet Mrs. Sisson in Newark at a later date. The home has done good work in Newark, and should not be allowed to go. Doubtless if proper financial encouragement is given the home will still be kept open in this city.

SHE LIKES OUR WAYS.

Daughter of Chinese Minister, Who Will Soon Make Her Debut.

There are many interesting and beautiful young women in diplomatic circles in Washington, but none more interesting than Miss Liang, the seventeen-year-old daughter of the Chinese minister, Sir Chentung Liang Cheng. Miss Liang is to make her debut before long and will be the first Chinese girl of high class to enter American society, it is said. She is very bright and progressive and eager to learn American ways.

MISS LIANG.

Her father, who is quite well Americanized and who played on an American baseball team when at school in the United States as a young man, has promised that she shall preside at the legation and mingle to some extent in the social dissipations of the capital when she is sufficiently instructed in the English language. She has already many privileges Chinese girls of high caste are not supposed to possess, her feet are not bound, and she walks like an American girl, but she is not permitted to adopt American attire, and her rich oriental costumes are made by a Chinese tailor connected with the legation.

THE SMOOT CASE.

The Mormon Senator and the Nature of the Charges Against Him.

Reed Smoot, who is known as the "Mormon senator," is the central figure in an investigation which has aroused much interest. The object is to determine the fitness of Senator Smoot for membership in the United States senate. The senate is the judge of the qualifications of its own members.

SENATOR REED SMOOT.

The protests filed against Smoot's retention of his seat allege that as a Mormon apostle he cannot rightly fulfill the duties of a senator. It is charged that the Mormon hierarchy has violated its promise to refrain from dictation in political affairs and that its members in violation of law openly practice and encourage polygamy.

The Mormon church is governed by a priesthood, at the head of which stands the first presidency and the body known as the twelve apostles. As one of these apostles, it is held, Mr. Smoot is responsible for the policy and acts of the Mormon church. It is held also that by his oath as an apostle he owes his first allegiance to his church.

Senator Smoot was elected to the senate to succeed Joseph L. Rawlins and took his seat in March, 1903. He was born at Salt Lake City in 1862, attended the State university and the Brigham Young academy and began commercial life as clerk in a general store at Provo, Utah. At eighteen he was manager of the establishment. By rigid economy he saved $300, and, borrowing a few hundred more, he invested his capital in sheep. This proved a successful venture, and later he bought a drug store. He is now known as a banker and woolen manufacturer and owner of mining property. He became a Mormon apostle in 1900. He claims to be the husband of but one wife, who was Miss Alpha M. Eldredge and whom he married in 1884.

By Wireless From the Footlights

"WHEN I left the management with which I had been associated for several years," said Miss Amelia Bingham recently, "and announced that I was determined to launch out for myself, I had plays read to me until I was almost deaf. Mr. Clyde Fitch read all that he had to offer, and none suited me. I asked him one morning if he were through. He answered: 'Yes, practically through. I have another piece; but, to be frank with you, it has been refused by every reputable manager in New York, and it has become well thumb marked.'

MISS AMELIA BINGHAM.

"I told him that was the piece I would like to read. He made an appointment for the next morning, and I went to his house to hear it. After he had read the first act I said to myself, 'Mourning, that is something new, and it will catch the public; good situations there.'

"After the reading of the second act I liked it better still, and at the close, or, really, before that, I said, 'Mr. Fitch, where shall I send you a check?' He was surprised, but I meant what I said, as he soon realized, for I asked him then and there who should paint the scenery, and we arranged before we went to lunch the first details of the undertaking. The play that had been 'refused by every reputable manager in New York' was my greatest success, 'The Climbers.'"

During a performance of "Henry VIII." at the Lyceum, London, the actor who played Cromwell in extolling the merits of Wolsey delivered as usual the passage:

> Ever witness for him
> Those twins of learning that he raised in you,
> Ipswich and Oxford—

when a cheery individual in the boxes cried out, "Hang me if I knew that Cardinal Wolsey was married before!"

Daniel Frohman, the theatrical manager, has twice been instrumental in changing the name of Margaret Illington, who is now appearing in "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots." Mr. Frohman first heard of the young woman when as Miss Maud Leit of Bloomington, Ill., she won the Joseph Jefferson diamond medal for amateurs at a Chicago school of acting. Through his efforts she secured an engagement with E. H. Sothern.

"Now, I hardly think," said Mr. Frohman, "that a buxom young woman evidently intended in voice and physique for emotional acting would look well programmed as Miss Leit. The punsters would never stop speaking of the heavy work of Miss Leit."

MARGARET ILLINGTON.

"It's the only name I have," answered the young woman.

"Well, we'll just take the first syllable of Illinois and tack to it the last two of Bloomington and we'll have Illington, which runs smoothly, is not inapt and will keep your native place before your mind. What do you think?"

The newly christened Miss Illington gave assent, and the programme went to press.

The second change of name occurred later, when Miss Margaret Illington, otherwise Miss Maud Leit, became Mrs. Daniel Frohman.

"I shall not forget the first Christmas I spent in the United States," says Anna Held. "'A Parlor Match' company was in Pittsburg. I saw no signs of Christmas in the hotel except the money box of the elevator boy with wreaths around it, so I said, 'I will celebrate Christmas in Parisian style in the streets to benefit the poor.' My manager said he gave no benefits except for the Actors' fund, and nobody but millionaire theater managers gave benefits on holidays.

"'What! Are there no poor in Pittsburg?' said I.

"'Plenty of them,' he responded, 'but how are we to find them out?'

"'Eh, bien, very well,' I said; 'I will have my theater in the open; no lights but sunshine; no seats; standing room only, and everything free or give what you please.'

ANNA HELD.

"'What is it, a winter circus?' said my estimable manager, with an irritating grin.

"'No matter. Order me a landau. Now I shall show you my theater,' said I as the carriage rolled up to the door.

"I invited several of the ladies of the company to join me for my drive, and our driver selected the most popular thoroughfares, and whenever he stopped I stood up in the carriage and sang, the ladies of our party extended the glad hand with a hat and the people on the streets responded generously. It was a brisk, cold day, but I sang an hour in the open air.

"I do not know exactly how much money was contributed, but the Pittsburg people were generous, and something over $800 was thrown into our carriage and afterward given to a charity fund.

"I shall never forget the picture of poor 'Old Hoss' Bill Hoey, then the funny man of our company, since gone to join the great majority. He stood on the curb, and as we halted and I sang he was my most attentive listener. As the song finished he impulsively threw his pocketbook into the carriage. I afterward learned accidentally that it contained his entire week's salary. Poor man! Peace to his memory! That was but a single instance of his characteristic generosity."

Joe Weber of Weber & Fields fame, who is now one of the stars of "The College Widower," has as good a wit off the stage as he has on, and he can parry the thrust of a manager with the same dexterity with which he can reply to the most insistent of the speculators that follow the show.

Recently a manager who is noted for not paying his debts and who thrives on bankruptcy proceedings met Weber and expressed his admiration for the cut of the new suit of clothes that the latter wore.

"Who is your tailor?" asked the manager.

Weber gave the name and address.

"I wish you would give me a letter to him," said the manager.

"I'll write him a letter about you," answered Weber quickly.

JOE WEBER.

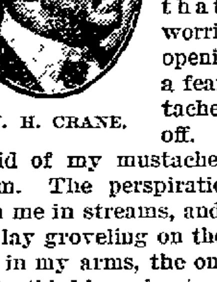

Not long ago the comedian accompanied his wife to a store to inspect a cloak she had purchased, subject to his approval. The storekeeper met them with a glad smile, and Joe was formally introduced.

"Delighted to meet you, Mr. Weber," he said. "I have had the pleasure of seeing you often on the stage, but never outside the theater. By the way, here is my partner. Permit me to introduce you."

He called to his partner, who came forward, and the flustered storekeeper said:

"Mr. Blank, I want to introduce you to Mr. Weber. And this is his wife, Mrs. Fields!"

William H. Crane has been known for many years as a comedian, but this season he is playing a serious role—a laugh would spoil the performance. The character of Isadore Lechat in "Business Is Business" is very different from the roles in which the public is accustomed to seeing Mr. Crane. Yet the actor has made a success of it in spite of his fear that the serious scenes might be "queered" by a laugh in the wrong place. Actors are anxious to create merriment when the lines call for it, but nothing "rattles" them like a guffaw when the situation is more or less tragic. Speaking of his experience in changing from comedy to serious drama, Mr. Crane says:

W. H. CRANE.

"The one thing that particularly worried me the opening night was a fear that my mustache would come off. Yes, sir, I was afraid of my mustache. I was very warm. The perspiration was rolling from me in streams, and at the climax, as I lay groveling on the sofa with my face in my arms, the only thing I was really thinking about was whether or not that mustache would hold its own against the flood of perspiration that was deluging it. If when I raised my head that faithless mustache should drop off I well knew what the finish would be not only for me, but for the play also. The laugh I had been fearing all the evening would surely come then. Fortunately the glue held, but if the scene had been five minutes longer I don't believe I could have stood it. The next day I was all but ill."

Some years ago the late Edwin Booth was visiting at the home of Mr. Crane and took the latter's young son on his knee. The tragedian said:

"Well, my little man, I suppose you, too, want to be an actor when you are big enough?"

"No," answered the boy: "I don't want to be an actor when I grow up. I want to be like my Uncle Lawrence Barrett."

Ezra Kendall, who is starring in "Weatherbeaten Benson," is the originator of that time respected witticism regarding the seven reasons against marriage—"a wife and six children."

Many may not know that Kendall really has those seven reasons, and, so far as can be gathered, they are the occasion for great happiness to the comedian. There are four little male Kendalls and two dear little girls, and Papa Kendall certainly has a fine time with them at his Mount Vernon (N. Y.) home in the summer time. His wife was formerly Jennie Dunn and was a clever little actress before the duties of her household became extensive.

EZRA KENDALL.

Not long ago Mr. Kendall and a friend were entering a Chicago hotel when the latter pointed to a door on the left leading to the establishment of a fortune teller.

"There is where you get your palm read," remarked the friend.

"And right around here," quickly replied the actor, pointing to the barroom, "is where you get your nose red."

Father's Vengeance.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Jan. 23.—John Gosset, a packer, killed John Doaner, another packer, at the army post. Gosset, missing his daughter, and suspecting Doaner, went to the latter's house, where he found her. With a large knife he began slashing Doaner, severing his head from his body, cutting out his heart and inflicting 25 other wounds. Gosset was turned over to the civil authorities for trial.

Attacked by Bears.

Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 23.—Five large bears, which were driven from their mountain retreats by the snow and cold weather of the past week, caused a stampede among the workmen in the Guyan Lumber company's mill on Thacker creek, in Logan county. John Boone, 16, was knocked down and fatally injured by one of the bears. Three of the bears were shot and killed before they could escape. Their weight is more than 200 pounds each.

Hundred Mules Burned Up.

East St. Louis, Ill., Jan. 23.—In a fire that destroyed three large frame barns of the National Horse and Mule Market, with eight carloads of baled hay, nearly 100 mules burned to death. The loss is $35,000, fully covered by insurance.

Survivors Return.
Nogales, Ariz., Jan 23.—H. L. Miller and Charles E. Tolerton, who escaped in the Yaqui Indian massacre in Sonora, Mexico, passed through here with the bodies of Messrs Coy, Mackenzie, Call and Steubinger, bound for Chicago. The correct names and addresses of the men killed are: Dr. R. C. Coy, Chicago, John K Mackenzie, Chicago; M. A. Call, Sioux City, Ia.; James Steubinger, Kewanee, Ill. It now appears that the party asked for an escort from the Mexican authorities at Hermosillo, and an order to the military at La Colorado was issued On reaching La Colorado the escort was requested, but the Mexican officials replied that there were so many in that party that an escort was unnecessary.

OBITUARY

MRS. JANE THURSTON

Widow of D. S. Thurston Died Sunday Morning at Her North Fourth Street Residence.

Mrs. Jane Thurston, widow of D. S. Thurston, died at her home, 190 North Fourth street, at 12:30 o'clock Sunday morning after a week's illness with heart trouble, aged 78 years.

The deceased was born in Belmont county, near Barnesville, but for the last 40 years had been a resident of Newark, her husband having been a prominent druggist here for a number of years. He died in 1893.

There are two children living, Jas. Thursron and Miss Mary Thurston, both of Newark.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late home, 190 North Fourth street, Rev T. L. Kiernan and Rev. L. C. Sparks conducting the services.

Mrs. Thurston was a devoted member of Plymouth Congregational church and was a woman who was held in the highest esteem by a large circle of friends.

MRS. ANNA MOSIER

Died Sunday Morning at the Age of 70 Years—Burial Takes Place Tuesday Afternoon.

Mrs. Anna Mosier, aged 70, died at the home of her son, Frank Mayer, 223 North Fourth street, at 4 o'clock Sunday morning of dropsy, which finally affected the heart. She was born in Germany but when a child came to this country and has lived in Newark practically all her life. She leaves three sons by her first marriage, Frank, Edward and Fred Mayer

She was a member of the German Presbyterian church. Rev. L. C Sparks, of the Methodist church, will conduct the funeral services at the home of Mr. Mayer at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, interment being made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

DR. M'CLURE'S FATHER.
Dr. McClure has returned from Brapmton, Canada, where he was called by the death of his father.

EDWARD SOUTHARD'S CHILD.
The one month old child of Mr. and Mrs Edward Southard of 67 Commodore street, died Saturday evening about 8 o'clock of bronchitis. The funeral was held Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

MRS. CATHERINE SHOEMAKER.
The funeral of the late Mrs. Catherine Shoemaker who died at her home on South Sixth street, took place from the St. Francis de Sales church on Monday morning at 9 o'clock, the services being conducted by the Rev. Father B. M. O Boylan, who celebrated requiem high mass for the repose of her soul. Deceased was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Noonan of German street, pioneer citizens of Newark. The reverend Father delivered a beautiful eulogy on the virtues and true Christian character of this noble woman, and in his remarks said that she was of one of the best and most religious families that ever lived in Newark. A large number of relatives and friends attended the services at the church and escorted the remains to Mt Calvary cemetery where they were laid to rest.

STRUCK A ROCK

A Steamship Sank in Shallow Water But Her Passengers Were All Rescued

Portland, Ore., Jan. 23.—The steamship George W. Elder, which left Portland for San Francisco, struck a rock in the Columbia river near Goble, 40 miles from here and stove a hole in her port side a short distance forward of amidships, and she sank in about 15 feet of water. The accident was caused by the rudder becoming fouled by a snag. While in this helpless condition, before she could be stopped, she left the channel and piled up on a jagged reef of rocks which lies near the bank of the river. Her passengers were brought back to this city.

The complaint of high local railway freight charges causes a discussion of greater utilization of British canals They have a total length of 3,000 miles, but unfortunately the railways control 3,000 miles thereof and none of the canals can carry boats of as much as 100 tons. Continental canals, it is said, will carry boats of 1,000 tons. The British canals are so ill instituted that practically every important town has direct connection with the seaboard

Cheap Parcels Post in Europe.

It is apparent from the postmaster general's annual report that the postoffice department is seriously considering a parcels post system for this country such as effete Europe has for many years enjoyed. Mr. Wynne's recommendation that rural free delivery carriers be authorized to deliver along their routes packages of merchandise of not more than five pounds in weight at a cost of 3 cents a pound is not much of a concession, but it is a step in the right direction.

In the United States under the existing postal laws no package weighing over four pounds may be sent through the mails, and the charge is 16 cents a pound. In Germany the postoffice will carry an eleven pound package any distance up to forty-six miles for 6 cents and to any place in the empire for 12 cents. In Berlin alone during the ten days preceding Christmas 50,000 packages a day were delivered. The revenue from the German parcels post amounts to nearly $15,000,000. For 10 cents the British postoffice will transport a three pound parcel from any house in the United Kingdom to any other house within the same limits. Furthermore, the competition of the postoffice departments in Germany and Great Britain results in a much lower railroad and express company tariff for parcels than obtains in the United States.

The Great Eastern railway of England carries within 120 miles of London a package under twenty pounds in weight for 8 cents, with 2 cents more for each additional pound up to sixty, the charge for a sixty pound package being 1 shilling.

Two Armies Living In "Dugouts."

Two immense cities, differing only in the character of their inhabitants, have come into being within a day's march of Mukden. With the thermometer at 10 degrees below zero and blizzards raging the most of the time, human beings could not live in tents, so the Russian and Japanese soldiers have gone back to the primitive age of man and taken refuge in "dugouts," like those known to American pioneers a generation ago.

A series of steps leads from the surface, the hole itself being covered over with a sort of trapdoor, which can be left open when the sun is shining. The furniture comprises a rude oven and hearth, a mass of straw and a cooking utensil or two. Ventilation is secured by means of an earthen chimney. The product which goes by the name of coal in Manchuria is extracted from neighboring mines and is said to afford sufficient warmth. The surface of the earth above these underground cities is said to afford little indication of the immense populations beneath. The men are reported to be tolerably comfortable, although English correspondents represent Kuropatkin's men as being shoeless and ragged, hungry and dirty.

A London paper has traced the careers of five boys who were lazy about getting out of bed in the morning. One of the bunch was the manager of a large business at the age of thirty, another at twenty-seven was a successful physician, the third at twenty-three was at the head of his class in college, the fourth had passed every examination in a medical school at twenty and the fifth was head boy in school at fifteen years of age. Perhaps these lads would have beaten those records had they been earlier risers. Anyway it goes to show that lay-abeds are not hopeless. Many a boy with stuff in him is slow about waking up to the earnestness of life and the importance of hard work: but, all the same, he arrives in the end.

The government of Venezuela has decided to give no titles to coal mines in the future, but to exploit all such mines under its own supervision and ownership.

DENISON WINS

DEFEATING KENYON'S TEAM AT GRANILLE SATURDAY.

Basket Ball Score Was 13 to 11 in Favor of the Baptists—Teams Evenly Matched.

Denison's basket ball team defeated the strong Kenyon five in the new gymnasium at Granville on Saturday night by a score of 13 to 11. The teams were very evenly matched and the game throughout was close and exciting. The defense of both teams was gilt edged which prevented the score from mounting up to high figures. The victory of the Denison team has given an impetus to basket ball which has never before been apparent at the Baptist school.

The game did not begin until after 9 o'clock being delayed on account of the G. F. C. fire. The line up follows:

Kenyon—Wolant f, Clark f, Crosby c, Quinn g, Stewart g.

Denison—Van Voorhis f, Martin f, Shoup c, Rondebush g, Webber g.

OHIO MEDICS

Are Making an Effort to Secure Dr. Eckstorm, Who Has Been Kenyon's Coach.

Efforts are being made by the athletic authorities of Ohio Medical University to secure the services of Dr. John Eckstorm as coach for the Tigers the coming football season.

Dr Eckstorm turned out a championship eleven at O. M. U. several years ago and from that institution went to Kenyon, where his work was of the best, considering the material with which he had to work.

Henistein, the old Michigan star is being sought by the Kenyon team, and if he is not secured efforts will be made to get Place, the Dartmouth coach who has been with Ohio Wesleyan, in the event that Eckstorm leaves.

EDDIE JUSTICE

Will Probably Join an Eastern Club, But Manager Snodgrass Has His Eyes Oper.

Eddie Justice, through his friend, Jack McAllister, has sent to Hartford, in the Connecticut League, for a blank contract which the former Newark shortstop expects to sign. It looks very much as if Justice would be missing when the Idlewilde team lines up for the opening game in May, but Manager Snodgrass has his eye on several players who he believes will more than fill his place.

USED A PIN

AND IS NOW THREATENED WITH BLOOD POISONING.

Son of Mayor A. J. Crilly in Serious Condition—Rr. Shirer Escapes Bloodpoisoning.

Clyde Crilly, son of Mayor A. J. Crilly, and an employe of the circulation department of the Advocate, is confined to his home on Commodore street, threatened with blood poisoning, as a result of irritating a slight growth on one of his hands, with a pin. He is suffering intensely and was unable to sleep Sunday night, even under the influence of powerful opiates.

Dr. J. G. Shirer of West Church street, while cleaning a pus cavity for one of his patients, had some of the pus get into a slight scratch on the middle finger of his left hand. The entire hand and arm became badly swollen and for a time he feared blood poisoning. An operation and powerful antiseptic treatment gave him relief, and at present he considers the dangerous period past.

X RAY EXAMINATION

Made of John Bowers' Ankle—Former Newark Man Injured at Zanesville Ohio.

John Bowers, who for over twenty years was employed in the B. and O. sand house this city, and who for some time past has been employed by the Brown Sand company of Zanesville, fell from a car in Zanesville about two weeks ago and broke a number of the small bones in one of his ankles. His condition became quite serious on Saturday and his daughter, Mrs. W. H. Sasser, of this city, was sent for. Drs. Pottorff and Drake made an examination of the injured ankle Monday, using the X-ray.

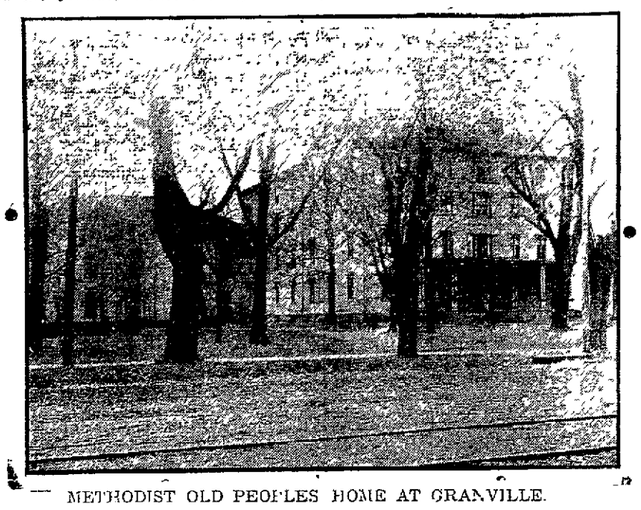

FIRE IN OLD PEOPLE'S HOME

Inmates Promptly Rescued and Blaze in Third and Fourth Floors Was Successfully Fought by Granville Firemen Saturday Night.

The old Granville Female College building that has stood for so many years, was threatened with destruction by fire Saturday night. Five years ago the building was badly damaged by fire, and many costly works of art, statuary and bric-a-brac were ruined by the water, and the art gallery, filled with its beautiful treasures, was completely destroyed.

For several years the old building has been occupied as the temporary "Home for the Aged," of the Methodist church.

About 8.00 o'clock on Saturday night fire was discovered in the room of the janitor, Willis Moore, on the third floor of the northwest end of the building. An alarm was immediately sent in and in an incredibly short time the efficient fire department was at the scene of the fire, and the flames which had gained considerable headway, were soon under control. Hundreds of students and others who had gathered at the scene of the fire, lent their assistance, and succeeded in getting all the inmates out of the burning building and to places of safety, and a large quantity of furniture and the belongings of the inmates were also carried out of the building.

The fire was confined principally to the third and fourth floors, although the other floors are badly damaged by water.

It is said tat the loss will amount to about $2,000, although it may reach more than that figure. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

It is not known exactly how the fire originated, although it is said that it was caused by a lamp exploding. The probability is that the direct cause of the fire will never be known.

Great credit is due to the efficient fire department, the students and all who assisted in any manner at the fire. To Mr. Clarence Coons, superintendent of the public schools, and to Mr. Barney Shipp of football fame, is special credit due. With great coolness and bravery these two men worked their way with the hose to the third floor of the building, and remained amid the fire and smoke until the flames were extinguished.

A number of the inmates were cared for at the Buxton house, while others were kindly furnished quarters at the Sig chapter house for the night, and were then comfortably installed in the homes of the villagers in different parts of the town. Here they will remain for a few days until things have been straightened up in the Home, when they will all return to their old quarters.

The excitement during the fire was very great, especially among the inmates, and it was all that Miss Shepard, the efficient matron, could do to quiet them. One poor old man, in his fright had taken refuge under his bed, while another had sought safety in a closet, and many other incidents of a like nature occurred.

GRANVILLE NOTES.

Granville, O., Jan 23—Mr and Mrs. J. W. Crawford entertained quite a number of their friends Saturday, January 21, with a fine dinner. The table was beautifully decorated with carnations, hyacinths and ferns. Among those present were Prof Goddell and wife, Rev. Mr. Hainer, wife and son, Rev. and Mrs. Hite, Mrs Carson, Mrs. Comstock and Mr. and Mrs. H. Palmerton, all of Granville. Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Crawford and daughter, Lena of Frazeysburg. The afternoon was spent in social conversation, after which all returned to their homes, having had a most enjoyable time.

The Y. W. C. A of Shepardson college gave a very delightful reception to Miss Frances Bridges, the national secretary of Y. W. C. A., on Saturday afternoon in Burton Hall, from 4 to 5 o'clock. In the library chocolate and wafers were served by the Misses Edna Thornton and Mary Ferguson, and in the parlor by the Misses Mabel Butterfield and Esther Fields. The tables were prettily and artistically decorated.

Thursday will be observed as usual, as the Day of Prayer for Colleges. Dr. Eton of Cleveland will conduct the chapel exercises in the morning, and it is expected that he will stay for a part of next week.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours, a sediment or setting indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys: if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble: too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1 sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

CONKLIN LECTURES

MANY HEARD NOTED WOMAN ON SUNDAY.

Series of Very Interesting Talks Will End Tuesday Evening—The Public Invited.

Sunday two large audiences greeted Mrs. Mabel Conklin the leader of the White Cross movement of America, who is now giving a series of lectures in Newark under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. At three o'clock Mrs. Conklin addressed an audience of about 300 men in Taylor Hall, her subject being "The New Chivalry." So high was the standard of purity which Mrs. Conklin held up that although she dealt plainly with the most personal questions which confront the manhood of today her auditors were lifted to her high plain of thought and when the invitation was given to sign the White Cross pledge of purity over 100 men responded and so great was the demand for the White Cross pins, the emblems of the White Cross movement, that the supply was exhausted. For the evening meeting the large seating capacity of Central Church of Christ was not sufficient to accomodate the crowds of men and women who came to hear Mrs. Conklin discuss "Reasons Why Young Men Go Wrong." Nearly a thousand individuals heard this stirring appeal to the womanhood of our city and to the chivalry of our men. The following is the program for the remaining days:

Monday evening, S. Taylor Hall, Y. M. C. A., general public, "Power and Responsibility."

Tuesday afternoon, 2, Baptist church parlors, women over 18 years of age only, "Marital Purity."

Tuesday evening, S. Taylor Hall, Y. M. C. A., mass meeting for young people "Character Building."

Mrs. Conklin desires the Advocate to make special mention of her last lecture Tuesday evening. She will devote a large part of her time to the present day popular amusements as she sees them from the standpoint of a society lady and one who is giving her life to the betterment of social conditions.

TWO HUNGARIANS

Before Mayor Crilly Monday and Each Was Fined for Disorderly Conduct.

Some of the Hungarians in Newark have from time to time given the police considerable trouble and on Sunday evening two of them were arrested. One man was brought in from the "Hunky" boarding house on Railroad street by Officers Atherton and Dailey for attempting to cut a fellow countryman with a murderous looking dagger. Officer Dailey cut his hand on the weapon when he took it from the prisoner. He was fined $25 and costs.

Another Hungarian living in East Newark was arrested for threatening to kill his wife with a butcher knife. He was fined $5 and costs for disorderly conduct and $10 and costs for threatening to use the knife.

Cured His Mother of Rheumatism.

"My mother has been a sufferer for many years from rheumatism," says W. H. Howard of Husband, Pennsylvania. "At times she was unable to move at all, while at all times walking was painful. I presented her with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications she decided it was the most wonderful pain reliever she had ever tried in fact, she is never without it now and is at all times able to walk. An occasional application of Pain Balm keeps away the pain that she was formerly troubled with." For sale by all druggists.

Lawsons Free "Ad."

Saturday's Advocate printed a free advertisement for Thomas W. Lawson, the Boston broker, whose running story "Frenzied Finance" is creating such a flurry over the country. Local newsdealers say the demand for Lawson's chapters on this live subject is unprecedented. The free "ad" was given because of Mr. Lawson's unique way of asking for it.

On Saturday the Advocate received the following prepaid telegram from Boston:

"Exact knowledge 'Trusts' will cause the American people to peaceably and legally revolt. I give it in February Everybody's magazine. Costs me $10,000 to $50,000. Won't you add your mite by calling attention to 'The Magic Jimmy?'"

MEXICO. DOUBLE DAILY SERVICE.

OVER NINETEEN HOURS SAVED.

Leave St. Louis 2.21 p. m.
Arrive City of Mexico, 10.50 a. m., third morning.

Mexico is a land that never fails to interest the artist, student, scientist, capitalist and investor, as well as the every-day tourist and pleasure seeker in quest of health and recreation.

The Iron Mountain Route is now the shortest and quickest line by many hours, between St. Louis and the City of Mexico. It runs over its own tracks to Texarkana, the Texas & Pacific Railway to Longview, Tex., the International & Great Northern Railroad to Laredo and the National Railroad of Mexico to the City of Mexico. No more delightful trip can be made for a brief vacation at this season of the year. One may go twice the distance east or west and search in vain for such a variety of scenery, such an absolute change of surroundings, such marked differences in the people, their habits and mode of living.

Also, leaving Union Station, St. Louis, at 8.20 p. m. on the Texas and Mexico Special on the Iron Mountain Route, you arrive at Little Rock, Ark., the next morning in time for breakfast. Here a superb dining car is attached to the train. Meals are served a la carte, the menu and all appointments being strictly first class. From Little Rock it is less than an hour's run to Benton, Ark., where direct connection is made with the train of the Little Rock & Hot Springs Western Railroad for Hot Springs, the greatest and most popular all-year-round health and pleasure resort in the country. Liberal stop-over privileges are allowed those who desire to visit this great national sanitarium.

The train then continues on its journey through the rich fruit farms and cotton fields of Arkansas to Texarkana, and thence across the Lone Star State to Austin and San Antonio, which has a world-wide reputation as a resort for sufferers from bronchial and pulmonary troubles. It is situated in the center of the "health belt" of the Southwest, blessed with almost perpetual sunshine and an ozone-laden atmosphere, which tends to make the surrounding country a second paradise for those afflicted with catarrh of the head, weakened lungs or similar ailments.

At Laredo, Tex., you cross the Rio Grande River and change flags, money also, if you wish to handle the current coin of the realm, but you do not have to change cars, as the same palatial Pullman in which you left St. Louis is still with you and will continue to be until your train rolls into the capital city of the sister Republic, at 7.50 p. m., third evening.

The first trip through Mexico is a series of revelations to the average tourist. They begin at Nuevo Laredo and reach a climax when the train climbs to the crest of the mountain which overlooks the beautiful Valley of Los Remedios, in the center of which nestle the clustered spires of the City of Mexico.

RECTOR BOPE

WILL LEAVE ZANESVILLE AND GO TO NEW YORK.

Wife and Daughter on Way to Chicago—Mrs. Evelyn Baker Reaches the Clay City.

Zanesville, Jan. 23.—Rev. Frank W. Bope will never again preach from the pulpit of any Episcopal church. He has resigned as St. James rector and as an Episcopal minister.

A near friend of the rector says he will go to New York soon to engage in newspaper work, his former profession. Mrs. Bope and little daughter Julia left last night for Chicago.

Mrs. B. Evelyn Baker, the charming New York vocalist and authoress, for whom Rector Bope transcribed manuscript of a novel on a typewriter, and to whom he submitted "love letters," arrived here yesterday. She was to be a witness and did not know of the sudden termination of the case until she got here. Mrs. Baker is stopping at the home of Miss Kate Stanbery.

Rector Bope said today that he has several offers of positions but will probably enter journalism. He says part of the agreement was that he and Gibbs were to leave Zanesville.

Reynoldsburg Decides to Remain Wet

FOLLOWED HEBRON EXAMPLE

Three Votes Were Thrown Out But They Would Not Have Changed the Result.

Reynoldsburg, on Saturday, emulating the example of Hebron, even to the majority, and decided to continue wet, by a margin of two votes. Hebron "went wet" by a single vote—80 to 79. Hebron and Reynoldsburg are on the C. B. L. and N. interurban, and each had two saloons, which the temperance people thought sure they would vote out of existence, although they lost out two years ago.

The vote was: Wets, 58; drys, 56. Three votes were thrown out, but, it is claimed, they would not have changed the result.

The canvass made by the drys during the campaign convinced them that they could win out, providing they would get out the vote, and they did, but some of them were misinformed.

"THE SIMPLE LIFE"

ANOTHER CHAPTER.

We have moved our real estate office to 23 West Main street, in the room formerly occupied by Showman Bros. and D. L. White as a grocery. In connection with our real estate and building, we have added the plumbing business, to be known as the "Newark Plumbing and Supply House."

We have been very careful to secure a competent and reliable man, one who understands sanitary plumbing thoroughly. We are able to do all kinds of [illegible] promptly.

There is nothing that affords more pleasure or comfort in any home than good plumbing; while on the other hand there is no greater menace to health, nothing as expensive or annoying as poor plumbing.

Newark is certainly behind the times when it comes to sanitary conditions. We claim that the best is none too good, and we are firm believers that anything is worth doing at all, should be done right, and at the proper time.

We wish to say to our friends that your patronage will be appreciated, and we will give you good and prompt service. 18-d6-sw-2t

WELLS ESTATE

Divided Between Two Brothers by Arbitrators at Croton—How the Property Was Divided.

Croton, O., Jan. 23.—The arbitrators have completed their work of dividing the Henry Wells estate between the boys, Clarence and Herbie. The following is the division: Herbie gets the old homestead, valued at $1,300; the Durphey property, valued at $650; 111 1-2 acres of land off the west end of the farm, valued at $7,664.36. Total, $9,614.26. Clarence Wells gets the Criswell property, valued at $450; the rink building, valued at $165; 99 acres of land off of the east end of the farm, valued at $7,425. Total, $8,040. The difference is $1,574.36, of which this amount is an advancement during the lifetime of his father. The arbitrators were C. L. McCracken, George B. Van Fossen and Charles Myers.

REVOLUTION IN RUSSIA

responsibility is ascribed to Father Gopon, leader of the strikers.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23.—(Noon.)—The Official Messenger places the number of casualties as the result of Sunday's rioting at 76 killed and 3,233 wounded. Center of the city is quiet, but ferment continues in industrial quarters. The same precautionary measures taken Sunday are in vogue today.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23—The tragedy enacted Sunday before the palace and in the adjacent streets has aroused intense indignation throughout the Russian empire. The revolutionists are expecting demonstrations in Moscow and in all industrial centers. A prominent member of the emperor's household is quoted as saying that this conflict will end the war with Japan and that Russia will have a constitution, or Emperor Nicholas will lose his head. The Warsaw and Baltic railroad is reported to have been torn up for a mile and a half, but the damage is said to have been repaired. There are rumors of trouble in Finland and disaffection of the troops. It is reported also that Father Gopon has been arrested.

The sympathy of the middle classes is with the workmen. If Father Gopon, the master mind of the movement, aimed at open revolution, he managed the affair like a genius to break the faith of the people in "the little father," who they were convinced, and whom Father Gopon had taught them to believe, would right their wrongs and redress their grievances. Gorky, the Russian novelist, expresses the opinion that Sunday's work will break this faith of the people in the emperor.

PRINCE SVIATOPOLK-MIRSKY.
Minister of Interior.

Sunday was a day of terror in St. Petersburg. Strikers, goaded to desperation by a day of violence, fury and bloodshed, are in a state of open insurrection against the government. A condition almost bordering on civil war exists in the terror-stricken Russian capital. The city is under martial law, with Prince Vassilchikoff as commander of over 50,000 of the emperor's crack guards. Troops are camping in the streets and at various places on the Nevsky prospect, the main thoroughfare of the city. In the industrial sections infuriated men have thrown up barricades, which they are holding. The empress dowager has hastily sought safety at Tsarskoe Selo, where Emperor Nicholas II is living.

Czar's Bloody Reply.

Minister of the Interior Sviatopolk-Mirsky presented to his majesty the invitation of the workmen to appear at the winter palace Sunday afternoon and receive their petition, but the emperor's advisers already had taken a decision to show a firm and resolute front, and the emperor's answer to 100,000 workmen trying to make their way to the palace square was a solid array of troops who met them with rifle, bayonet and saber. The priest Gopon, the leader and idol of the men, in his golden vestments, holding aloft the cross and marching at the head of thousands of workmen through the Narva gate, miraculously escaped a volley which laid low half a hundred persons. The figures of the total number killed or wounded here, at the Moscow gate, at various bridges and islands and at the winter palace, vary. The best estimate is 500, although there are exaggerated figures placing the number as high as 5,000. Many men were accompanied by their wives and children, and in the confusion, which left no time for discrimination, the latter shared the fate of the men. The troops, with the exception of a single regiment, which is reported to have thrown down its arms, remained loyal and obeyed orders. But the blood which crimsoned the snow has fired the brains and passions of the strikers and turned women as well as men into wild beasts, and the cry of the infuriated populace is for vengeance.

The military authorities had a firm grip on every artery in the city. At daybreak guards, regiments, cavalry and infantry held every bridge across the frozen Neva, the network of canals which interlaces the city and the gates leading from the industrial section, while in the palace square, at the storm center, were massed dragoon regiments, infantry and Cossacks of the guards. Barred from the bridges and gates, men, women and children crossed the frozen river and the canals on the ice by twos and threes, hurrying to the palace square, where they were sure the emperor would be present to hear them. But the street approaches to the square were cleared by volleys and Cossack charges. Men and women, infuriated to frenzy by the loss of loved ones, cursed the soldiers while they retreated. Men harangued the crowds, telling them that the emperor had foiled them and that the time had come to act. Men began to build barricades in the Nevsky prospect and at other points, using any material that came to hand, and even chopping down telegraph poles.

Fighting meantime continued at various places, soldiers volleying and charging the mob. The whole city was in a state of panic. Women were running through the streets seeking lost members of their families. Several barricades were carried by the troops. Toward 8 o'clock in the evening the crowds, exhausted, began to disperse, leaving the military in possession. As they retreated up the Nevsky prospect the workmen put out all the lights. The little chapel at the Narva gate was wrecked. On the Kaminostov island all the lights were extinguished. Every officer wearing the uniform of the emperor who was found alone was mobbed. A general was killed on the Nicholas bridge and a dozen officers were seized, stripped of their epaulets and deprived of their swords.

Hundreds Shot Down.

There was a very dramatic scene at the Narva gate when Father Gopon, in golden vestments, bearing aloft an ikon and flanked by two clergymen carrying religious banners, approached at the head of a procession of 8,000 workmen. Troops were drawn up across the entrance. Several times an officer called upon the procession to stop, but Father Gopon did not falter. Then an order was given to fire, first with blank cartridges. The volleys rang out, but the line still did not waver. Then, with seeming reluctance, an officer gave the command to load with ball, and the next volley was followed by shrieks and cries of the wounded. As the Cossacks followed up the volley with a charge the workmen fled before them, leaving about 100 dead or wounded. It was evident that the soldiers deliberately spared Father Gopon. One of the clergymen by his side was wounded, but he escaped untouched and hid behind a wall until the Cossacks passed, and he was soon spirited away by workmen.

It is rumored that M. Witte will be appointed dictator, but the report is not confirmed. The authorities, while they seem to realize the magnitude of the crisis with which the dynasty and the autocracy are confronted on account of the day's events, apparently are paralyzed for the moment.

The most harrowing scenes of Sunday occurred around the palace square. The square itself presented the appearance of a military encampment. A crowd of strikers in and outside the admiralty gardens continued to grow hourly, swelled by arrivals from the Nevsky prospect, which touches upon the boulevard skirting the gardens. The strikers manned and held a small edifice at the corner of the gardens and poured out constant objurgations and reproaches at the troops. It was in vain that officers requested them to disperse.

Charged the Mob.

Nothing at that time indicated the approach of the horrible butchery which was destined to stain the corner of the admiralty gardens with human blood. The crowd there persisted in refusing to move on, clamoring for the emperor, and continually hurling abuse at the troops, but attempted no violence. Two companies of the Preobranjensky guards, of which Emperor Nicholas himself was formerly colonel, which had been standing at ease in front of the palace, formed and marched at double quick towards the fatal corner. Events followed with awful swiftness. The commanding officer shouted "Disperse! Disperse! Disperse!" Many in the crowd turned to flee, but it was too late. A bugle sounded and the men in the front ranks sank to their knees, and both companies fired three volleys, the first two with blank cartridges and the last with ball. A hundred corpses strewed the sidewalk. Many women were pierced through the back as they were trying to escape. It was now the turn for the crowd stationed at the Morskaia entrance to the square, where the horse guards drove the people pell-mell down the thoroughfare. The crowd, now aroused to a state of frenzy, at the sight of the wounded, who were being brought out of the drug store and placed in an ambulance, saluted them as martyrs. Every head was uncovered as the victims were conveyed away. The milder element in the crowd now got the upper hand and proceeded to attack every officer in sight. The appearance of several companies of infantry restored order, but the crowds refused to disperse and several volleys were fired and a number of people were killed. Half a dozen policemen were surrounded by a crowd in a neighboring street. The policemen drew their revolvers and fired, and one of them was killed by a comrade's misdirected fire.

Barricades Stormed.

The first barricades were constructed at Vassili, Ostrov island, where fighting occurred later, resulting in the killing of 30 of the defenders of the barricades. The strikers, driven from the river front, had gathered in front of the union headquarters, out of sight of the soldiery. Buzzing like a nest of angry hornets, a hundred men brandished handleless sabers they secured from some junkshop, which were the only weapons seen in the hands of the strikers during the day. Others swarmed up poles and cut down telegraph, telephone and electric light wires, which they strung from lamp post to lamp post across the street to break up charges of cavalry. At first none of the leaders seemed to have any plans. Sudenly two men appeared carrying ladders, and others pushed up with more ladders, timber and lumber from incomplete buildings and with old sleighs. In the twinkling of an eye a substantial barricade had been constructed, bound together with wires and ropes. On these water was poured, which immediately froze. As a last contribution Christmas trees were added to the pile, and the crowd rushed to repeat the process at the other end of the block. Meanwhile, others were bringing on brick and breaking them for missiles. When the troops advanced the strikers lined the barricades and offered what resistance they could, but while half of the infantry rested their rifles on a barricade and volleyed, the others demolished the obstruction and marched over the street, which was then numbered with 50 dead or wounded lying on snow crimsoned with human blood.

Father Gapon, the priest whose agitation has brought Russia to the verge of a revolution, is only 28 years old. He is possessed of boundless courage and enthusiasm. He is the son of a moujik (peasant and one-time serf) at Poltava, in Little Russia, who was noted for his independence among a race of slaves.

Two Hundred Russians Killed.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 23. — Captain Orlan Cullen, representative of the Imperial Marine association of Tokyo, received a cablegram from Constantinople to the effect that 1,500 Circassians had revolted and killed the Russian guard, numbering 200, at Slavini, in the Caucasuses, and that Russians and Turks in large numbers were crossing the frontier into the Caucasus to spread revolution in Tiflis province. Tiflis city is practically in a state of siege, he said, and communication is had only by dispatch boarder.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23.—12:30 p. m.—The troops continue to patrol the principal thoroughfares and about the winter palace. Private citizens, however, are able to use the streets. The soldiers are under instructions to act on the defensive and not to attack unless rioting is renewed. The strikers are showing no such stubbornness as they did yesterday.

French Opinions.

Paris, Jan. 23.—The Intransigeant today says the Czar will be singularly clever if he escapes the fate awaiting him. The Petite Republique says the Czar is not the father of the people, but their executioner.

SWAYNE CASE

Senate to Transform Into a Court of Justice—Impeachment Proceedings.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The United States senate this week will transform itself into a court of justice for the trial of the impeachment charges against Judge Charles Swayne of Florida. The managers on behalf of the house will present themselves before the bar of the senate and read the charges. The next step in the process will be the organization of the court. The managers of the joint statehood bill are very hopeful of securing an agreement to vote on that measure before the close of the week. The opponents of the bill do not admit this possibility, but those senators who feel confident of the acceptance of some one of the amendments eliminating Arizona from the question say that they will be prepared for a vote as soon as the discussion is exhausted.

KILLED TWO SONS

Then This Kansas Farmer Burned His Residence and Shot and Killed Himself

McPherson, Kan., Jan. 23.—Charles Tuxhorn, a farmer living 14 miles southwest of here, killed his two sons, aged six and ten years respectively, burned his house and barn with all of the contents, and shot and killed himself. Tuxhorn smothered his sons and took their bodies to a neighbor's orchard, half a mile distant, where he laid them on the ground and covered them with blankets. Tuxhorn then returned to his home and set fire to all of his property, after which he killed himself. He had been arrested for mistreating his wife and children and was to have appeared in court. He was 40 years old.

Mr. Kate Edwards Preparing to be Hanged Feb. 16 Mrs. Rogers February 3d.

Reading, Pa., Jan. 23—Mrs. Kate Edwards is preparing for death in the county jail here. She will be hanged on Thursday, February 16, for the murder of her husband, John Edwards, three and a half years ago. The gallows is stored in the basement of the prison, and Mrs. Edwards and her associate in crime, Samuel Greason will be hanged together.

At a conference of prison inspectors and Sheriff Sassaman it was decided to admit no one but the jury of inquest provided by law; a reporter from each Reading newspaper and representatives from the press associations.

The scaffold will be erected in the jail yard and Mrs. Edwards will have to walk about fifty feet.

While under a terrible mental strain she bears up well. She was greatly disappointed when the Pennsylvania State Federation of Women's clubs, through its president, Mrs Kate McKnight, of Pittsburg, refused to make an appeal in her behalf. Her greatest concern is for her child, Alma, three and a half years old born in her cell, who has never been out of prison and has positively never seen the outside world.

This makes it a most pathetic case. Alma will be taken from her mother in two weeks and sent to a Southern state, where she will be placed in a good home. Mrs. Edwards' five other children have been sent to the West.

Twice a week the Rev. Stephen Schweitzer, the Reformed church pastor of Ephrata, visits Mrs. Edwards as her spiritual adviser. Last week he gave her a little book entitled "Assurances of Faith," which she reads. Yesterday he spent considerable time in the condemned woman's cell, preparing her thoughts for the world to come, but he finds it hard work. When both knelt in prayer little Alma knelt by her mother's side, awed by the clergyman's earnest voice. Mr. Schweitzer received Mrs. Edwards into his church by confirmation when she was thirteen years old and married her to John Edwards when she was seventeen.

When seen in the prison, the little prison child had taken a seat on a stool in the cell. She looked at her weeping mother in wonder, her dark eyes mutely asking "Why does mother cry so much." She got up from her seat and going to her mother tried to comfort her. She stroked one of her hands and leaned lovingly against her mother. Then the mother clasped the child in her arms.

Alma is a pretty child. She has long black hair, the curls falling down to her shoulders. She was attired in a neatly trimmed cream colored cashmere dress. Her conduct could be patterned after by children who have been reared with all the refinements of a good home.

Kate Edwards now and the Kate Edwards of three and a half years ago appear to be two different women. Her complexion is now clear, and the years of worriment have softened her eyes and the regular life of the prison obliterated the hard lines from her countenance. She now weighs possibly 145 pounds. She weighed 160 when first committed. Meek and resigned, she spends the long days and weary nights alone with her child and her thoughts.

When the child is taken away from her forever it is feared the mother may collapse. From then on will come the most miserable period of her existence.

Rutland, Vt., Jan. 23.—The gallows on which Mrs. Mary Rogers is to be hanged has been erected, but it will be taken down and painted this week after being tested.

Nothing has happened to indicate to the officials that here will be any interference with the death sentence, and preparations are going forward.

Within a few days the officials will communicate with Mrs. Rogers's mother and sister, to learn what disposition they desire made of the body. The time set for the hanging is February 3, between 1 and 2 p. m. The rope has been selected. It will be thoroughly tested, and an old one may be used, as it is desired to avoid any such scene as occurred when the rope snapped at the hanging of Frank Ilmy, in New Hampshire. Mrs. Rogers weighs 176 pounds, and every precaution will be taken to have a rope strong enough.

Zanesville, Jan. 23—(Bulletin)—Rector Pope today handed in his resignation as an Episcopalean minister. He said he would go into other work. Judge Granger prepared the resignation. Mrs. Pope has gone to Chicago and will probably go to New York.

CROKER IS DEAD

Victim of an Automobile Accident in Florida—Stunning Blow to His Friends.

Ormond, Fla., Jan. 23. — Frank H. Croker died here from injuries sustained in an automobile accident. His death came as a stunning blow to his friends here. The young man was put under the influence of ether by the surgeons Saturday night and the broken and splintered bones in the leg and arm were set, his broken ribs were bandaged and a bad scalp wound was dressed. After the operation the patient seemed to be resting well, but was in a semi-conscious state. Later he became entirely unconscious and remained so until death. Mrs. Richard Croker, mother of the unfortunate young man, and his sister are here.

Conditions In European Turkey.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The state department has made public portions of an important report recently made by Director Thomas E. Norton, American consul at Harput, Turkey, on the results of a tour of investigation made by him under instructions from the department through the vilayets of Bitlis and Van, which were the scenes during several months last summer of repeated attacks upon and massacres of Christians by the Kurds and other elements of the population. The principal object of the visit was for the better protection of American interests there, and the timely arrival of Dr. Norton, it is stated, contributed to a peaceful termination. No Americans were known to have been injured. Dr. Norton says Mush is practically an armored camp, where Armenians are in constant terror. He estimates that in the Sassun district 5,000 lives were lost in last summer's massacres, including 2,771 children.

Gained Eight Pounds

The Truthfulness of the Following Testimonial is Vouched for by Mr. Hall, Our Local Druggist.

"I am pleased to take this opportunity to state that for over two years I have been a sufferer from stomach trouble, until I was told by physicians that my case had developed into chronic dyspepsia and that the only cure—if there was a cure—could be obtained by going to a lower altitude and drinking freely of mineral waters. I could not afford to do this, and had about given up all hope of getting much benefit or relief until I saw the Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets advertised as being a guaranteed cure for all forms of stomach trouble. I determined to try this new remedy, and bought a box of Rexall dyspepsia tablets, with the understanding that if it did not help me I could get my money back. After taking half of the box, I was firmly convinced that I had found the remedy for which I had been so long in search, and that I was on the road to recovery. I bought four more boxes of the Rexall Cure for Dyspepsia, and took every box faithfully according to directions, and I am now glad to say that I have a new stomach. My weight has increased eight pounds, and I feel like a new person. Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are entitled to all the credit for making a new stomach for me." P. H. Craven, 111 S. Weber street, Colorado Springs, Col.

It is not surprising that Mr. Hall guarantees Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets when he has hundreds of just such testimonials as above. For twenty-five cents anyone may have a large trial box sufficient for fifteen days treatment with the positive guarantee that if you are not perfectly satisfied you get your money back from Frank D. Hall, the druggist.

EXTRAORDINARY INVESTMENT

Sixteen Per Cent Secured by Mortgage

Messrs. Alva W. Wilcox and F. A. Bolton of this city, have secured an option on the land abutting the United States navy yard at Charleston, S. C., from the Chicora company of Norfolk, Va., with all of its improvements of sewer, water, trees and granolithic sidewalks. This is the most complete monopoly in real estate that could be arranged. This property is situated about five miles from Charleston, the street car runs through its entire length, and within five years nearly five thousand mechanics will be employed by the government, or as nearly as many as all the factories in the city of Newark combined. At the present time there is not a dwelling within five miles of the navy yard, except negro cottages. The property secured abuts on the navy yard four thousand four hundred feet, and the gate of the yard opened into it. The history of all navy yards has been that they created cities about them in a very few years, as can be ascertained by referring to the yards at Newport News and Puget Sound.

By these terms of their contract they have bound themselves to raise $30,000 for the purpose of erecting houses and making improvements. To do this they offer to the people of Newark an opportunity to realize a handsome profit on their money which may be subscribed in amounts of $100 or more, which need not be paid until April 1, 1905, although if they desire to make a subscription it should be done at once, as we anticipate that the amount will be rapidly subscribed and no more than that amount will be taken.

We can offer to subscribers a 16 per cent investment secured by mortgage on real estate with the additional added security that property mortgaged will be the first improved by building on the same with the money subscribed. We have made a personal investigation of this property and been all over it. Mr. Wilcox desires to meet a number of good mechanics of the different building trades of this city, who might be desirous of going south, as steady employment the year around is made possible.

Parties desiring further information on this matter may call at our office, No. 14 1-2 east side of square, where we have pictures of the property and the navy yard. 1-19 dtf

WOMEN WHO CHARM

HEALTH IS THE FIRST ESSENTIAL

It Helps Women to Win and Hold Men's Admiration, Respect and Love

Woman's greatest gift s the power to inspire admiration, respect, and love. There is a beauty in health which is more attractive to men than mere regularity of feature.

Mrs. Chas. F. Brown

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, should be a woman's constant study. At the first indication of ill-health, painful or irregular menstruation, headache or backache, secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begin its use.

Mrs. Chas. F. Brown, Vice-President Mothers' Club, 21 Cedar Terrace, Hot Springs, Ark., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"For nine years I dragged through a miserable existence, suffering with inflammation and falling of the womb, and worn out with pain and weariness. I one day noticed a statement by a woman suffering as I was, but who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I determined to try it. At the end of three months I was a different woman. Every one remarked about it, and my husband fell in love with me all over again. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound built up my entire system, cured the womb trouble, and I felt like a new woman. I am sure it will make every suffering woman strong, well and happy, as it has me."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhœa, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, or nervous prostration may be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,

UNION CENTER.

The writer had the pleasure of talking to an old resident of this place some time ago, and was given more interesting facts concerning this part of the world. He said that at one time the woods on the Lewis farm and several other farms were full of wild hogs and for a long time hog hunting was great sport among the boys and men around here. He also said that wolves were quite plentiful and farmers and sheep raisers suffered from their ravenous attacks upon their live stock. One instance he mentioned in particular was an attack made by wolves upon sheep on the farm adjoining the one owned by Edward Nichols. During his life time he does not tell of seeing deer so numerous, but says there were a few and quite a number were killed. This man has almost grown up with the country, and has seen many improvements such as railroads, telegraph, telephone and rural delivery.

Last week's Advocate contained an interesting story about the amputation of a man's mustache. Union Center can boast of something in that line, but it is a superfluous growth of whiskers owned by Curtis Bowlby. Mr. Bowlby prepared for cold weather and allowed his beard to grow, and at the time did not think that he might have to go away from home. The other day he started to Granville and spoke to old acquaintances on the road, and no one knew him. Finally one, a little bolder than the rest, asked him who he was. "Why, don't you know me? I am Curt Bowlby." Mr. Bowlby could not make him believe it was he, and is now on the fence about cutting his whiskers.

Tuesday while at school Bryan Woods met with a painful accident. He was playing hide and seek with his schoolmates and Bryan was hiding in the coal house. Upon trying to get out he stumbled and fell, striking his face upon a sharp piece of coal, cutting a deep gash in his lip. The gash was about an inch long and reached the membrane next to the teeth.

THE CHILDREN'S HOUR.

Make It a Regular Daily Institution In the Home.

Set aside an hour for the children and preserve it sacredly from all encroachments. Every home where there are children should have its "children's hour," an hour when father and mother lay off the grownup's mantle and become acquainted with the children in the guise of a playfellow. It is the best loved playfellow who receives the real confidences of these little men and women, and that same confidant may be either father or mother if only they are wise.

And so set aside each day an hour when the children may be sure of your company and good fellowship. Make it in the early evening, if possible, when all members are in the home. Then put aside dressmaking worries and stock quotations and enter into child interests with genuine zest—you cannot satisfy them with anything short of the genuine; they are sure to detect it if you dissemble or your attention wanders.

Teach them to love reading by reading to them until they in turn are anxious to read to you, and talk over what they read to you. Tell them stories and encourage them in the art. Teach them to master games. You will be surprised in how short a time they will have got beyond you in most of the games.

Let us all welcome their little muddy footed friends, so there will be no occasion to stand on a dark corner of the street to whisper secrets. Children whose parents are too busy or preoccupied to practice any of these arts will grow away from the love of home wonderfully fast.

THE DISHCLOTH.

A Homely Subject, but an Important One to the Family.

A dishcloth is a homely subject and a very little thing, but one that is often a menace to the health of the family. Nowhere should care and cleanliness be more strictly observed than in this homely household necessity. Don't use just anything for a dishcloth. No one can tell what germs of disease cling to an old garment, even if it has been well laundered. As a rule old garments form the base of the formula after which the dishcloth is put together.

The best dishcloth is one of a coarse cheesecloth, made of several thicknesses, quilted with stout thread either by hand or upon the machine, and the dishcloth should be cleaned after each process of dishwashing with boiling water and dried quickly in the sun if possible. The same care should be given the dish towel, which is also usually a made over utility.

The dishcloth should not be thrown indiscriminately into the laundry basket with soiled clothing, but, with the towel, should be kept apart and washed separately, that its absolute cleanliness may be assured. And when it becomes frayed and unshapely it should be burned—burned hot and forever. Many a family would find less sickness within its midst if these homely instructions were observed.

THE HOME DOCTOR.

Dry flannel applied as hot as can be endured alleviates the agonies of neuralgia.

An excellent remedy for hiccoughs in young or old is granulated sugar moistened with vinegar.

If you use iodine, don't fail to have glycerin mixed with it; otherwise you will blister the skin.

A solution of salt and water is a common and efficacious remedy for sore throat; also for a sore and cankered mouth.

Should anything get into the eye one drop of castor oil should be dropped in the corner of it, but if it be mortar or lime bathe with a weak solution of water and vinegar.

A teaspoonful of granular phosphate of soda in a tumbler of hot water drank before breakfast for a few days is a blood purifier. This salt agrees with delicate persons and cools the blood, besides promoting a flow of bile.

The Emancipated Woman.

The name of "emancipated" has often been absurdly applied to the woman who has, or is reputed to have, or fancies she has a "higher education"—whatever that may be. But in fact does it not rather belong to the woman who, through the prosperity of her husband, has been emancipated by the employment of servants from all the domestic duties that used to keep her occupied? The notion that women ought not to work originated in the harem, in the home autocracies of the orient. It has no place in any true civilization. It is destructive of character and degrading. Yet how many women of our influential classes as girls hold and as wives and mothers practice the idea that woman ought to be supported in a sort of easy going, rose lined idleness by some man or other?—Baltimore Sun.

The Worry Wrinkle.

It is not always age that makes those disagreeable furrows across our foreheads and around our eyes. There are some grandmothers whose faces have hardly a wrinkle and some granddaughters whose brows are as seamed as they might be at sixty. Time is not responsible for these vexing little lines. A good many of them may be charged up against worry. If one gets in the way of fretting over everything that has gone wrong and everything one thinks likely to go wrong, the record upon one's face will be as plain as print. Bad temper makes a mark which is hard to erase and is far uglier than the lines the happy years bring.—Chicago Journal.

HERE IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS

David L. Thompson Remembers Newark When Canal Was Highway of Commerce.

One of the really remarkable men of Newark, who has lived in the city for a half century, and is known to every man and woman who ever patronized any of the larger dry goods stores, is Mr. David L. Thompson, who lives at 152 West Main street.

Mr. Thompson has served many more years in the retail dry goods business than falls to the lot of most men. In fact, this period of service covers an ordinary life-time extending over 58 years.

Mr. Thompson was born in Mary

MR. DAVID L. THOMPSON.

Ann township, this county, in April, 1831, and was a son of John Thompson. His father was engaged in furnishing ore for the old Mary Ann furnace, boating it from Muskingum county. When David was 9 years old his father was killed accidentally by falling through a hatchway on his boat, and soon after the subject of this sketch was sent to an aunt's in Muskingum county where he lived on a farm until he was 17 years old, when he entered the dry gods store of Blair & Warman in Zanesville, remaining there nearly two years. He then went into the store of John and Alexander Sullivan, where he remained for about a year and a half, the firm then closing up its business. The reason for this was that John Sullivan had received the contract for building the B. & O. road from Zanesville to Newark, and was elected first president of what is now a mammoth system. Mrs. Alexander Sullivan was a sister of the grand old standard bearer of Democracy, Samuel Cox, and also a sister of Mrs. Thomas H. Sites, of this city.

Mr. Thompson's story of his life in Newark which began immediately after the closing of the Sullivan store, is best told in his own words:

"I came to Newark in 1850, and was employed by the late Matthew Newkirk, whose stand was where Roe Emerson's store now is, still known as Newkirk's corner. In those days the dry goods stores did not have forty or fifty clerks as at present, two or three being the limit.

"I remember in the year 1854 the cholera broke out in Newark. At the time Mr. Newkirk had the late Benjamin Wilson, myself and a young German. At the time Mr. Newkirk had already started East to buy a stock of goods and the German clerk became frightened and left the city. Mr. Wilson went to the country thinking it was just as safe there as in town, and I guess he was right. For two weeks or more one clerk could wait on the trade very easily. I used to lock up when I went to meals and I don't think the store lost much trade by so doing.

"In 1857 Mr. Newkirk took me in as a partner, giving me a one-third interest in the profits. In the fall of 1857 came a financial crash I was engaged to be married and becoming panic-stricken withdrew from the firm but remained as a clerk. Mr. Newkirk got many extensions and finally weathered through. That autumn wiped out many a business man.

"In 1858 I left Mr. Newkirk and was employed by Atcherley & Siegler where I remained until 1866. Mr. Siegler went to Columbus and Mr. Atcherley associated with him, his son, now 'Squire James R. Atcherley.

"In 1866 I was persuaded to go in business with the late Silas B. Woolson, a Mr. Perkins and myself each to have an equal share with Mr. Woolson of the profits. I left my dear, old friend Atcherley with many misgivings.

"The firm of Woolson, Perkins & Co. did a wonderful business, but at the end of each year our profits dwindled and in three years the firm wound up its business, a very bad business for me.

"I was then offered a good position by Mr. Newkirk and went with him remaining 17 years, having served 26 years in all with him

"I served four years with the J. J. Carroll company, and then went to Pennsylvania where I held a position in the big Kauffman department store of Pittsburg. Coming back to old Newark I took a place with Mr. Hansberger, where I remained three years.

"For the past six years I have been floor walker for popular firm of Meyer & Lindorf. I am temporarily off duty by an attack of grip but expect soon to be at my post of duty.

"So you see, I have served about 58 years in the business, and have seen all its phases. Under free trade and under high tarif I have seen all its fluctuations I have sold common 4 by 4 sheeting muslin for 80 cents a yard, and prints as high as 60 cents. Muslin is now worth bout 10 cents and prints 6 cents The prices of other staple dry goods were in porportion.

"When I came to Newark there were from ten to twelve houses in East Newark, the most of the land up to the bridge being used as farm land, and Newark's population was a little over 3,000.

"When the B. & O. Railroad Co. came into Newark its tracks were laid on the east side of the square and the Panhandle road when it came into the city had its office where the Griggs' store now is.

"All goods before this were shipped by canal and it took weeks to get them here even after they had started westward.

"Years ago nearly all the stores in Newark sold dry goods. Merchants sold molasses and calico in the same store. Where there were no less than sixteen stores here selling dry goods in the old days there are now but four but there is a big difference in the stores."

Mr. Thompson's narrative was intensely interesting and told in a most charming manner. It cannot but interest everyone who knows the man, as well as those who have only known Newark within the past comparatively few years

FRATERNAL INSURANCE RATES RAISED.

Why should it be a surprise to you that the rates of that particular assessment organization of which you are a member, should be raised? It is simply the history of all such organizations. We supposed you were aware of this, and were expecting it. With the laws of mortality, which are as certain as the laws of gravity, it can never be otherwise. Besides having to die to win (providing the company survives you) and with non fixed rate, with nothing saved for old age, you subscribe, when joining any assessment company, to any changes necessary in rules and regulations. With no membership fee, no medical examination, no annnual dues to pay for, the Equitable Life will give you a rate for 10, 15 or 20 years, and return you your money with interest at the end of the period. Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?

If you did what would you say of him?

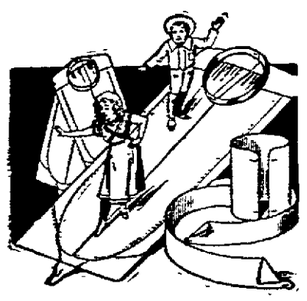

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it, with Canthrarides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.

Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots.

It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured.

THE LICKING LAUNDRY

MR. TOM EVANS

TAKES GAVIN HARRIS' PLACE AT EMPIRE THIS WEEK.

Latter Inherits a Fortune of $50,000 From Father's Estate—Will Not Leave the Stage.

Mr. Tom Evans, whose stage name is Brandon Evans, son of Mr. William T. Evans, of this city, will be seen at the Empire theatre in Columbus this week. The Columbus Sunday Dispatch says.

Gavin Harris will be missing in the cast at the Empire this week, he having not yet returned from Bucyrus, where he went upon the death of his father, two weeks ago.

Brandon Evans, a graduate of the Ohio State university, and an actor of both talent and experience, has been secured to take his place in "Secret Service." While in the State university he was a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity, and took part in performances given by "The Strollers."

He is also a graduate of the American Academy of Dramatic Art, in New York, and while there in that school, played leads in such pieces as "Charity Ball," 'The Wife,' etc.

For the past two seasons he has been traveling with a stock company of his own, playing leads in "Cumberland 61," "Tennessee's Partner," "A Night Off," "Utah," "My Sweetheart," and others.

Bucyrus, O., Jan. 23.—The inheritance of a fortune will not induce Gavin Harris of this city, to give up the stage and in ten days he will resume his position with the Empire stock company at Columbus.

Mr. Harris has just come into possession of $50,000 from the estate of his father, being one of four heirs.

The father was a distinguished and successful lawyer, who had invested his early money in Western lands, which advanced in value. Included in the patrimony of the actor is an excellent farm of nearly 300 acres, situated in Iowa.

In early years the actor was an inveterate reader. When he was ten years old his father's large library had been devoured as was amply shown by marginal notes and pictures from the pencil of the younger Harris.

COURT HOUSE

JOHN L. THOMPSON, A MINOR, SUES FOR DIVORCE.

Mrs. Cecil Coleman Asks Release Also. Other Pickups in Temple of Justice Monday.

John L. Thompson, an infant, by his guardian, Squire Thompson, has commenced suit in the Probate court for divorce from his wife, Mary May Thompson. The plaintiff and the defendant were married on January 16, 1904. The plaintiff is an infant over 14 years of age and alleges that the defendant, for the purpose of inducing him to marry her, presented herself to be a chaste and virtuous woman, when she was not. Smythe & Smythe are the attorneys for the plaintiff.

Coleman Divorce Suit.

Mrs. Flo Coleman by her attorney, S Leamon, has commenced suit in the Probate court for divorce from her husband, Cecil Coleman. The parties were married March 18, 1903, and have no children. Plaintiff charges neglect of duty and that her husband has refused to furnish her with a house in which to live. She asks that she be restored to her maiden name of Flo Williamson.

State of Ohio vs. Frank Welsh, indicted for horsestealing; plea of not guilty Bolton.

Ohio vs. John Botts, indicted for grand larceny; the defendant stated that he would like to have Mr. Bolton as his attorney, but that he had no money. The court stated that he would give the defendant until Saturday to employ counsel; and that if he had not secured counsel by that time the court would appoint an attorney to defend him. The defendant said the court might as well do it now, and Mr. I. V Hilliard was appointed, the court having heretofore announced that it would appoint counsel for indigent prisoners in alphabetical order, Mr. Hilliard being next on the list. The defendant pleaded not guilty to the indictment.

Ohio vs Fred Harris petit larceny, plea of not guilty Mr. Bolton is his attorney.

Ohio vs. Benj Frank and Mary Frank, indicted for horsestealing, plea of not guilty. Mr. Bolton also appears for these defendants.

The court then took up the motion list.

"Who is Who"

Auditorium Tonight.

A young woman of striking appearance is Miss Ethel Hunt, who will appear here with the farce comedy, "Who is Who" tonight Beautiful in face and figure she is well worth looking at Not only has nature been generous in bestowing upon her a face and form that eminently fit her for her line of work but she has also talent as an actress. Although a woman's age is a delicate subject Miss Hunt admits twenty-three years, and it is fair to presume that the future has good things in store for her.

Miss Hunt is an Australian, and has been in America but little more than a year On the other side of the world however, she has achieved something of a reputation as an ingenue, and in boys' parts she has been upon the stage almost from the time she was first able to walk The glare of the footlights has not spoiled her, for she has a charming personality, and is a favorite with her associates Her early appearances were made under the management of veteran George Rignold, and to him Miss Hunt attributes the ability she has developed. She has made rapid strides in her profession, and during her career has toured Tasmania, New Zealand and all of the Australian Colonies, and now she is in a fair way to win laurels for herself in America. At Auditorium tonight.

UNCLE JOSH PERKINS.

"Uncle Josh Perkins", the latest comedy drama by Lem B. Parker, has been accorded a gratifying reception wherever presented and is a worthy companion play to "Shore Acres" and the "Old Homestead." both of which have been the greatest successes produced in years Auditorium Wednesday night, January 25.

THE HEART OF TEXAS.

Pretty magnetic Pearl Evans and her company in a scenic production of "The Heart of Texas", will be the Auditorium attraction next Friday night January 27.

COMING SOON.

"Both Charles Hawtrey and 'A Messenger from Mars' went quickly into the graces of the throng at the Garrick. There was something new and fresh in each. Mr. Hawtrey impressed himself upon the audience at once by his perfect naturalness, and the manner in which he carried out his character in detail."—New York Telegraph.

WHERE AUTUMN IS CHARMING.

Zillah Harris who plays the part of Miss Autumn in Nixon & Zimmerman's successful production of Willard Spenser's 'Miss Bob White," which is an early booking here, has a dash, beauty and culture of voice that make her as welcome a figure in the role of the Colonial Dame as any woman who has yet essayed it

Miss Harris comes from Canada, where as a choir singer she achieved a considerable reputation. Her personality is as forceful as it is attractive.
